Welcome Visitors!

Sallie B. Howard School for the Arts and Education is a Kindergarten through eighth grade public charter school located in Wilson, NC - 45 minutes east of Raleigh, NC. We are a full service, tuition free school serving a culturally diverse body of over 800 students taught by a diverse international faculty in an academically and arts-rich environment. SBHS opened in 1997 offering a curriculum that balances a concentration of academic core subjects and superior training in the performing and visual arts. We provide a unique and rich balance of instruction, including travel abroad, not found elsewhere in the eastern North Carolina region.

Our mission and vision is to teach and model a love for learning and for each other in an environment that values Perseverance, Respect, Integrity, Discipline, and Excellence (P.R.I.D.E.). Our teachers and staff are trained in the Nurtured Heart Approach to relationship building created by Howard Glasser and we are an Endorsed NHA School.

Our current growth plans are to add grades 9-12 one grade at a time beginning 2015. We are in planning with Barton College to offer an Early College High School partnership with the college. We encourage everyone to explore our website, www.salliebhowardschool.com, tour our school in person, call for a visit (252-293-4150), and apply to become a part of the wonderful opportunity that is the Sallie B. Howard School for the Arts and Education.
